

Garden Green Products, Falmouth, Maine

Wouldn't it be great if you could grow some of your own produce, even in an urban setting? Imagine the freshness and taste of your own tomatoes, lettuce, radishes and onions. The closer you are to the source of supply, the better the taste.

Meet Master Gardener Tony DiPietro and his wife Lynette from Falmouth, Maine.

Together with their daughter they run "Garden Green Products", manufacturer of the "Boomer Bed". What is a "Boomer Bed"? The Boomer Bed is a raised garden bed system that enables condo owners, city dwellers with limited yard or patio space a place to grow your own produce that is easy and fun to use. The product is fully assembled and takes less than 5 minutes to set up. You just open the bed, insert the liner, fill with your soil mix and start planting. It can be used for growing herbs, flowers and vegetables in any convenient place at your home. It can be raised to tabletop height for gardeners who have trouble bending down. The Boomer Bed is currently trademarked and patent pending with the help of the University of Maine.

Garden Green Products began its business operations in 2009 because of the DiPietro's enormous passion for gardening and their desire to help other gardeners, particularly those with limited space and growing experience. Their goal is to enable others to experience the fun and bounty of growing your own crops, even in an urban environment.

The Boomer Bed is manufactured in the USA using domestically made materials, including biodegradable, energy efficient and recyclable textiles. It is fully assembled, lightweight, portable, folds to 1" flat for storage, rot resistant. It is perfect those residents with small city lots, who live in retirement communities, and for children's gardens.

As a Master Gardener, Tony DiPietro educates the public on gardening and horticultural issues through public events and community gardening displays. According to the 2009 Extension Master Gardener Survey, there are nearly 95,000 active Extension Master Gardeners in all 50 states and Canada providing approximately 5,000,000 volunteer service hours of per year to their communities.
